The wondrous slide and slump the country over was accompanied by a genuine winter-like condition, which still reminds us that a week ago Tuesday was an exceedingly cold day, politically speaking.

F. K. Sawyer was in Rutland last week, where he made arrangements to sell his marble stock through a wholesale house. He is turning out some excellent monumental work at low prices before removal.

It is said, whether with reason or not we cannot say, that trouble is likely to be experienced with the sewer on Summer street, particularly toward the Main street end, where the pipe was not buried deep enough to be free from frost.

A political cartoon in Robinson's show window, representing the unfortunate Wilson, of tariff fame, and Hill, who would a President be, in the sadness of their long voyage "Up Salt River," attracted considerable attention during last week.

The Old Farmer's Almanac for 1895 is at hand. This old almanac needs no introduction to the public, for many a farmer would not know how to keep house without it. The new number contains about the same variety of matter as previous issues.

C. A. Sanders, who is well qualified as a strict weather observer and has kept a record for 30 years, says that the thermometer went down to 7° above zero Tuesday night, and that it was colder by 15 degrees that evening than at any time for 30 years on the same date.

The two men arrested here by Officer Town some time since and taken before District Attorney Senter as suspects, were liberated last week, it becoming evident that hotel-jumping was the only offense that could be fastened upon them. The opening concert of the course comes next week Thursday night, Nov. 22, and will be given by the Boston Stars, an excellent company.

The Academy students, with commendable zeal, have taken up the work of raising funds for the purchase of a new piano to be used in the school room. The organ, used every day for many years, has at last given out and the need of something better is very urgent. By means of socials and charging a small admission to school exhibitions, they hope to be able to accomplish the undertaking.

Work on the new water system has now undoubtedly been dropped until next spring, and the work accomplished seems very satisfactory in extent. The pipe is now all in from the springs to the Burke pasture, opposite the "Burke barns," or a distance of full two and a half miles. In the spring something like 200 rods of pipe will be put down, when the site of the reservoir will be reached. The large reservoir will be constructed and then the larger pipe to and throughout the village put in.

A union congregation filling the Methodist church to overflowing listened to Miss Ethelind Gould in the rendering of several selections appropriate to the occasion on Sunday evening. While the speaker no doubt would be seen and heard to better advantage in a more varied program, still the rendition of the sacred and pathetic selections of the evening proved her natural and unaffected ability.

L. J. Thompson, who has for several years been reading law in Hendee & Fisk's office, and who was admitted to the bar a few weeks since, finds an open field and seemingly a very good opportunity for the practice of his chosen profession at Wolcott, to which he soon goes. L. J. has lots of friends hereabouts, who will wish him abundant success there, at the same time regretting his absence here.

A short time ago a man went into a certain blacksmith shop here to have his horse shod. As the flies in the shop bothered the animal to a considerable extent, the owner forthwith proceeded to keep them off while the job was being done. When the operation of shoeing was completed, the aforesaid owner presented a bill of five cents for keeping the flies off his own horse, as a partial offset to the blacksmith's charge.

At the Sunday morning service in the Cong'l church a formal letter from Rev. G. N. Kellogg of Norwich, Conn., accepting the call to become pastor of the church here, was read by Deacon Gleed. In the absence of a pastor a brief sermon was selected and read by H. C. Fisk, and notice was given that there would be a general rally at the parsonage on Tuesday to clean up and put things in shape for the new pastor and his family.

The village Trustees have posted notices forbidding coasting on any of the village streets, excepting the hill at the south end of High street. People are also requested to refrain from hitching horses to electric light poles. The poles are to be painted and kept in good condition and the hitching of horses will not promote their attractive appearance, to say nothing about the danger in monkeying around the poles when the electricity is streaking by.

A. G. Alford of the "Alford Sporting Goods Co.," of Baltimore, Md., one of the largest of its kind in this country, is a Lamoille county boy and although it has been several years since he left his native hearth he retains a warm affection for Vermont. He is a regular reader of the NEWS AND CITIZEN, and in remitting for the same this week has a word to say about the glorious Republican victory, and adds:—

"I notice in your heading of the late elections you do not note the important break in the 'Solid South,' although mention is made of the three Congressmen elected by the Republicans in this state. This is only a part of our glory, however, as the Republicans of this city elected a judge of the superior court and for the first time in history a majority in the city council, 12 out of 22. There is now a good prospect of sending two or three more Congressmen from this state, as three of the defeated candidates will contest with the Democrats, who were undoubtedly elected by the grossest frauds, as has already been shown. We expect to elect a Republican Governor and Mayor next year and are feeling very jubilant."

THE WOMAN'S CLUB.

At a meeting held in the Library on Friday evening "The Woman's Club" was organized with the selection of the following officers: President, Mrs. P. K. Gleed; Vice-President, Mrs. C. H. Slocum, Miss M. M. Slayton; Recording Secretary, Mrs. W. H. Robinson; Press Secretary, Miss Carrie Powers; Financial Secretary, Miss Jessie Slayton; Treasurer, Miss Alice Doty; Program Com., Mrs. W. H. Slayton, Mrs. G. W. Hendee, Miss Edwards; Membership Com., Mrs. H. C. Fisk, Miss Paul, Miss Edwards; Reception Com., Mrs. A. O. Gates, Mrs. A. R. Campbell, Mrs. N. Blair; Com. on Criticism, Misses Edwards and Chase. The meetings of the club will be held at the homes of the members, and will operate quite largely in the social field, its more particular object being for the mutual improvement of women and the securing of all the benefits arising from organized effort. The first meeting since organization was held at Mrs. Gleed's on Monday evening, when the work was taken up and will go forward to the benefit and pleasure of all concerned. The next meeting, a social session of the club, will be held with Mrs. J. A. Robinson in two weeks.

LAST WEEK'S "SHOW."

Morrisville has, in the past few months, suffered the appearance of too many "cheap John" traveling shows—companies that buy up a lot of handsome-looking lithographs for advertising purposes that are as foreign to any part of the show as is the Republican plurality in New York to the present state of the weather in Alaska. Another of these barnstorming troupes came last week and people went, to be sold, as far as an entertainment of any merit was concerned, unless, perchance, the whole show signified something else than was seen on the stage, which may possibly be the case, for the "prima donna," in her attempts at song, reminded one of a choked-up steam whistle that you want to hear only long enough to be sure it's time to quit work, and the male vocalist, with his voice and gesticulation, made a realistic representation of a cross-cut saw or the scraping of snow off a concrete walk with an iron shovel. The two imbecile farces put on were strong reminders of boyhood days when the kids of the neighborhood collected in some commodious barn, and with an abundance of burned cork, borrowed clothes and buffalo fur mustachios, made the welkin ring. But Morrisville has no use for this sort of thing, and as an amusement-loving people the time has come to drop such stuff and demand something of a higher order.

ELECTRIC LIGHT FLASHES.

The special committee acting for the village in connection with the electric light plant have issued a circular giving full information in regard to all questions arising in connection with rates. These circulars may be had of any of the committee and should be preserved. It should be understood that the rates for lighting are the cheapest known in this country. Swanton is the only town known of that has as low rates. It is the property of the village, and whatever is for the best good of the plant is also for the best interest of the individual resident. If there have been any things not fully understood, leading up to the expressed thought that "they" are charging so and so, or "they" won't do so and so, it should be remembered that this "they" means ourselves, and we are doing business with ourselves through a committee, who are acting for us and for the best interests of the success of the enterprise. Mr. Almon, the contractor, has three gangs of men at work in the village doing inside wiring as fast as possible, and these are all workmen who thoroughly understand the business. It now looks as though every business place would have the lights, and enough orders for wiring in dwellings are already in to keep these three gangs of men busy for three or four weeks to come.

Good sleighing is reported in Eden and Lowell.

Storm doors and double windows are in style once more.

The creamery was closed down for the winter last week.

Mrs. T. W. Hyde has gone to Winooski, where she intends spending several weeks with her son-in-law, H. A. Bailey.

Representative Davis is home from Montpelier for a few days, wrestling with a bad cold and a touch of general debility.

The carpenters have finished work on C. A. Knight's house and nearly all of them have gone to Barton, where Mr. Manley has a contract to build a house for Col. Cutler.

The dramatic recital by Miss Ethelind Gould last Wednesday evening was fairly attended and heartily enjoyed. Miss Gould is a clever reader and her selections are all fresh and taking.

Our local Democracy have not yet fully recovered from the paralytic stroke their party received last week; in fact, so "mum" are they that it is thought they have lost their power of speech.

There will be a 10-cent sociable at the vestry this week Friday evening. It will be a box party, and the ladies are requested to bring a box lunch for two. All will be welcome and a pleasant time is promised.

The result of the general elections last week causes great rejoicing among the Republicans of this place. Those who stood by the party in the local contest of last fall enjoy the big victory far better than the few who were misled by the false statements of a blatant renegade.

The subject of the lecture to be given at the Town Hall Wednesday evening of next week by M. W. Fairman of Westfield, will be "The One Armed Admiral." Says the St. Johnsbury Caledonian: "Mr. Fairman is an interesting and pleasing speaker, and his lecture indicated a thorough study and understanding of his subject. Admission 20c; proceeds to be used for benevolent purposes.

The Academy trustees have decided to shorten the fall term one week owing to the illness of Prof. Vilas. The term will therefore close Thursday. The winter term will commence Monday, Dec. 3, and will probably be of twelve weeks duration.

At the Hotel Phenix may be seen specimens of Texas sugar cane and cotton plants, sent from that State by Mrs. Wallace Freeman, one of the ladies who spent the past summer here. There is also a fine assortment of chrysanthemums, sent up from Boston by Paymaster Nowell.

The Governor has signed the bill legalizing the quadrennial appraisal of this town. It will be remembered that the board, through the inexcusable carelessness of its chairman, made such an egregious blunder that it was necessary to call on the State of Vermont to help us out.

A telegram received here Tuesday from North Charlestown, N. H., announced the death of W. C. Towner, a former employee of this office. He died of consumption, after an illness of several months. Mr. Towner came here in the fall of 1891 and remained about a year. He was a young man of good character and had many friends. While here he became a member of Sterling Lodge, I. O. O. F., and retained his identity with this organization. The funeral occurs Thursday afternoon and will be attended by a delegation of Odd Fellows from this place. Deceased was in his 25th year and is survived by his father and a brother and sister.

Most excellent music was rendered by the orchestra at the entertainment last Wednesday evening, and while speaking of that a brief resume of the organization and growth of this musical body may be in place. It is now made up of twelve pieces, and it is safe to say that no town in the state of our size can boast of a better amateur musical organization. There is no little expense connected with the same. Besides the time devoted, there has been expended over $300 in instruments, music, etc. Last year $200 was put into a piano, besides which there was purchased a double bass viol and a trombone. About $30 has been expended for new music each year, while the incidentals—fuel, lights, etc.—have been quite a sum. All this expense has been met, with the exception of the piano, and over $100 has been paid on that. There are many of our people who have subscribed liberally at various times to help the band, thinking they were aiding the orchestra too, which is an error, as it has never circulated any subscription paper whatever. To their credit be it said there has never been any dissension or trouble among the members, but all have worked as one from the start to make it the success that it is. The orchestra has never refused to play for any local entertainment gratis and has always cheerfully granted the use of the piano for anything of a public nature. The orchestra, individually and collectively, is worthy of hearty support and should continue in public favor in the future as it has in the past.
